Special Educational Needs (SEN) Information Report

St. Martin's CE Primary School

What types of SEND does St Martin's provide for?

Our school will make reasonable adjustments to provide provision for pupils with the following needs:

AREA OF NEED	CATEGORIES OF EACH NEED
Communication and Interaction	Autistic spectrum disorder
	Speech, language and communication needs
Cognition and Learning	Moderate learning difficulties (a combination of learning needs, across a range of subjects)
	Specific learning difficulties (specific Literacy needs or Numeracy needs)
	Severe learning difficulties (significant difficulties with mobility, coordination, communication and self-help skills)
Social, Emotional and Mental Health	Attention deficit hyperactive disorder (ADHD)
	Attention deficit disorder (ADD)
Sensory and/or Physical	Hearing impairment
	Visual impairment
	Multi-sensory impairment
	Physical disability

Which staff will support my child, and what training have they had?

Miss Wright has worked in education for over 23 years. She is a qualified teacher, who has taught across the primary phase. Miss Wright is currently undertaking the National Award in Special Educational Needs Co-ordination. She manages SEND provision across the school.

Class teachers and Teaching Assistants (TAs)

All of our teachers and teaching assistants receive in-house SEND training and are supported by the SENDCo to meet the needs of pupils who have SEND. Some recent training we have undertaken is listed below:

- TAC PAC sensory intervention CPD for the SEND team, led by the Outreach Service.
- Autism Awareness (5 sessions: introduction, sensory, flexibility, communication and emotional regulation) CPD for teaching assistants, led by the Outreach Service
- SEND team focus sessions (led by SENDCo) on SMART targets
- Precision teaching led by the Educational Psychologist
- Positive handling led by Team Teach
- Awareness of hearing impairment and how to support pupils led by teacher of the deaf

External agencies and experts

Sometimes we request input from external agencies to gain further advice and support to meet the needs of individual children with SEND. These include:

- Speech and language therapists
- Educational psychologists
- Special Needs Early Years Service (for children under 5)
- Outreach Service (for children 5 and over)
- Occupational therapists
- GPs or pediatricians
- School nurses
- Visual Impairment Team
- Hearing Impairment Team
- Inclusion Team
- Child and adolescent mental health services (CAMHS)
- Education welfare officers
- Children's services and other LA-provided support services
- Voluntary sector organisations

What should I do if I think my child has SEND?

Tell us about your concerns

We will invite you to a meeting to discuss them

We will decide whether your child needs SEN support

If you think your child might have SEND, please contact the school office on 01902 925700 or office@stmartinsprimary.org.uk to arrange for your child's class teacher to contact you.

If necessary, the SENDCo will contact you to discuss your concerns.

We will meet with you to discuss your concerns and try to get a better understanding of what your child's strengths and needs are.

Together we will decide what outcomes to seek for your child and agree on next steps.

We will make a note of what's been discussed and add this to your child's record.

If we decide that your child needs SEND support, following a cycle of assess-plan-do-review, we will formally notify you and your child will be added to the school's SEND register.

How will the school know if my child needs SEND Support?

SEND Support is personalised school provision to meet the needs of children with SEND.

A pupil has SEND if they have a learning difficulty or disability that requires special educational provision to be made in response to:

- A significantly greater difficulty in learning than most others of the same age, or
- A disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools

Class teachers will regularly assess the progress of all pupils and identify any whose progress:

- Is significantly slower than that of their peers starting from the same baseline
- Fails to match or better their previous rate of progress
- Fails to close the attainment gap between them and their peers
- Widens the attainment gap

This may include progress in a child's wider development, such as their emotional needs. When teachers identify an area where a pupil is making reduced progress, they will target the pupil's barrier(s) to learning with adapted, high-quality teaching. If progress does not improve, the teacher will raise this concern with the SENDCo, in order to have a discussion about whether this lack of progress may be due to a Special Educational Need.

Slow progress and low attainment does not automatically mean a pupil is recorded as having SEND. Other potential causes of impact on progress will be considered, such as the impact of attendance, changes in home life and/or a new medical condition. Staff will also take particular care in identifying and assessing SEND for pupils whose first language is not English.

Based on this information, the class teacher and SENDCo will work together to decide whether your child needs SEND Support. If your child does need SEND support, their name will be added to the school's SEND register: the SENDCo will then work with the class teacher to create a SEND Support Plan for them. This will be produced with input from you and your child. Where necessary the SENDCo will, in consultation with you, consider consulting an external specialist.

If a member of staff is concerned about a child's progress or their wider development they will complete a cause for concern form and discuss their concerns with the SENDCo. They will outline support that the child has already had. The SENDCo will then implement further support required.

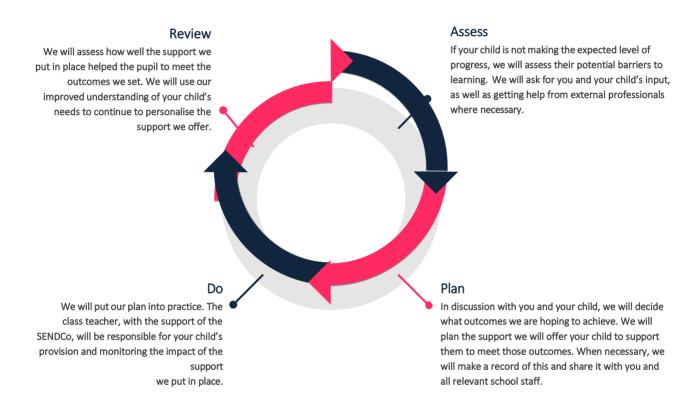

How will the school measure my child's progress?

Teacher assessments across the curriculum are completed on a termly basis for all children, so that progress can be tracked.

Personalised targets for children with SEND are reviewed at least termly by the class teaching team. If the targets have been achieved, then new ones will be set to ensure that your child continues to make progress. If targets are not achieved, the reasons for this will be discussed and future targets may be adapted to ensure they are achievable.

Whenever we run an intervention with your child to support their progress, we will assess them before the intervention begins. This is known as a 'baseline assessment', which we later compare with an end of intervention assessment. We do this so we can measure the impact the intervention has had on your child's progress.

For all children with SEND, we follow the 'graduated approach' to meet their SEND needs. The graduated approach is a 4-part cycle of assess, plan, do, review.

This process will be continual. If the review shows a pupil has made accelerated progress, they may no longer need the additional provision made through SEND Support. For others, the cycle will continue and the child's targets, strategies and provision will be revisited and refined

How will I be involved in decisions made about my child's education?

We offer termly meetings with class teaching teams to families of children with SEND. The SENDCo may also attend some meetings, when necessary. A copy of your child's SEND Support targets will be shared with you at each meeting.

At these meetings, you and the class team will discuss:

- Your child's progress made towards intended outcomes
- Your views to support the co-production of your child's provision, which we record as 'parent/carer voice'. We know that you're the expert when it comes to your child's needs and aspirations. Furthermore, we want to make sure you have a full understanding of how we're trying to meet your child's needs, so that you can provide insight into what you think would work best for your child.
- What we will do, what we ask you to do and what we ask your child to do to support them to make future progress

If your child's needs change at any time, please let us know right away so we can keep our provision as relevant as possible. You can contact the school office on 01902 925700 or office@stmartinsprimary.org.uk to arrange for your child's class teacher to contact you.

How will my child be involved in decisions made about their education?

Pupil voice is important to us at St. Martin's. We seek your child's views by talking to them about their likes and dislikes at school, their progress and next steps. This process is run by a member of staff who is familiar to your child and can be supported with closed and open questions, utilising visual supports when necessary. Most importantly, class teams then look to respond to pupil voice and tailor our provision, in order to meet children's needs as precisely as we can. The level of child engagement will depend on your child's stage of development. For some children, such as non-speaking children, staff will interpret their personalised communication and respond to these accordingly.

How will the school adapt its teaching for my child?

At St. Martin's we take an adaptive approach to teaching, the curriculum and the learning environment.

High-quality teaching is our first step in responding to your child's needs. Your child's teacher is responsible for the progress and development of all the pupils in their class and will adapt and/or differentiate learning, according to individual need.

These adaptations include, but are not limited to:

- Proactive adaptations, with the intention of enabling all* pupils to access the lesson's learning intention. For example, planning the use of scaffolds, groupings, adult support, desktop visuals and/or concrete resources
- Reactive adaptations, such as giving longer processing time to answer questions, regularly checking children's understanding during a lesson and using direct questioning to correct misunderstandings
- Giving children, who have SEND Support, weekly support to progress towards their personalised targets
- Organising small intervention groups, according to children's needs, such as: reading interventions, sensory breaks and pre-teaching key concepts

*For some children, with complex SEND, more significant adaptations may be required. These will be discussed with families on an individual basis and may include personalising timetables to meet the individual needs of pupils and differentiating tasks when the curriculum and teaching must be significantly adjusted to ensure a child makes progress.

How will the school evaluate whether the support in place is helping my child?

- Ongoing formative assessment by class teachers across the term, leading to dialogue with the SENDCo if necessary
- Assessing and reviewing all children's curriculum progress through termly summative assessments
- In the resource base and EYFS, observations are used to complete assessments
- iASEND is used in the resource base
- Reviewing the impact of interventions after a specified number of weeks
- Valuing pupil voice through regular informal conversations and termly formal conversations
- Termly monitoring of personal SEND Support targets by the SENDCo
- Holding an annual review, if your child has an Education, Health and Care (EHC) Plan

How will the school resources be secured for my child?

It may be that your child's needs mean we need to organise:

- Extra equipment or resources
- Additional personalised adult support from a key worker
- Further training for our staff
- External specialist guidance

If that's the case, we will consult with external agencies to get recommendations on what will best help your child to access their learning. The school will cover up to £6,000 of any necessary costs, as part of the SEND notional budget. If funding is needed beyond this, we will explore seeking it from the local authority.

How will the school make sure my child is included in activities alongside pupils who don't have SEND?

At St. Martin's, we are passionate about making all reasonable adjustments possible to remove barriers to pupils with SEND accessing the same activities as their peers. We look to enable this by:

- Striving to ensure children with SEND access a broad curriculum. Intervention sessions are scheduled and reviewed to ensure that the curriculum is not narrowed for these children.
- Ensuring our extra-curricular activities and school trips are available to all pupils, except in exceptional circumstances, with necessary support arrangements made in agreement with families.
- Ensuring all pupils are encouraged and supported to take part in Sports Days and special workshops
- Children who attend the resource base, access the mainstream classroom when appropriate

How does the school make sure the admissions process is fair for pupils with SFND?

We use Wolverhampton City Council Admissions to allocate children to our school. Before and after a child has been allocated a place at St. Martin's Primary School, we invite you to request a school visit for a walk around and discussion. This supports us to consider reasonable adjustments required to meet the SEND needs of your child.

Children who have an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP) are not admitted to St. Martin's through Wolverhampton City Council Admissions. For children who have an EHCP, their school placements are reviewed as part of each annual review, by Wolverhampton SENSTART (Special Educational Needs Statutory Assessment and Review Team).

For children who have been issued a draft EHCP, parents/carers can name their preferred choice of school/setting on a Parent Preference Form. The local authority must then consult with parents' preferred choice of school/setting before naming it in the EHCP. The school/setting has 15 days to respond. The local authority may consult with other schools/settings.

Secondary school placements for children at St. Martin's, who already have an EHCP, will be addressed through a transition review of their EHCP towards the end of Year 5.

How does the school support pupils with disabilities?

We strive to make reasonable adjustments to ensure that the facilities we provide help disabled pupils access our school, through the provision of auxiliary aids and working closely with external services

Our Accessibility Plan can be found on the school website. The plan documents how the school aims to increase access to the curriculum for pupils with a disability, maintain access for all to the physical environment and improve the delivery of information to pupils with a disability.

How will the school support my child's mental health and emotional and social development?

For some children, their social, emotional and mental health (SEMH) need is their prime barrier to learning. At St. Martin's, we have a dedicated pastoral team, led by Miss Katie Shaw, our Pastoral Manager. We provide SEMH support for pupils in the following ways:

- Our pastoral team organise proactive 1:1 check ins/interventions for children whose mental health, emotional health and social development requires additional support
- One page profiles are completed for all children with SEND support plans to support staff awareness of their needs.
- Targeted SEMH interventions, such as Wishes and Feelings, sand therapy, Lego therapy, and mindfulness sessions.
- The SENDCo meets with class teachers termly to review and set personalised SEMH targets.
- Risk assessments are written to support children with significant SEMH needs.
- We have a 'zero tolerance' approach to bullying. Please see our behaviour policy on the school website for more information.
- Further information about our Personal, Social and Health Education curriculum can be found on our website.
- Pupils with SEND are encouraged to take part in after school clubs, to promote teamwork skills and opportunities to build friendships

What support will be available for my child as they transition between classes or settings?

Between years

To help pupils with SEND prepare for a new school year we:

- Organise transition meetings between the current and upcoming teachers to discuss pupils' additional needs.
- Use pupil profiles for children with SEND, to share successes, barriers to learning, pupil voice and reasonable adjustments to be made in class to support their access to learning.
- Schedule sessions for children to meet their upcoming teacher towards the end of the summer term
- Offer social stories and visuals to support children who are anxious about the upcoming changes.
- Plan for further opportunities for children to interact with their soon-to-be-new teacher, if further transition support is required

Moving to secondary school

When your child is moving on from St. Martin's, we will liaise with the school SENDCo/Head of Year to share relevant SEND information.

Pupils will be prepared for the transition to secondary school by:

- Meeting staff from the new school
- Sometimes we work alongside the secondary schools to plan extra transition days when necessary.
- For children with EHCPs, we will organise enhanced transition meetings in the summer term, involving families, St. Martin's and the new secondary school.

What support is in place for children in care with SEND and children previously in care with SEND?

Miss Wright is also the school's Designated Teacher, with responsibility for co-ordinating provision for children in care. Miss Wright and Miss Shaw, the Pastoral Manager, will make sure that staff involved understand the additional needs and circumstances of a child in care or a child previously in care, as well as how the child can be supported through proactively planned teaching and nurture.

Children with SEND, who are in care or were previously in care, will be supported much in the same way as any other child who has SEND. However, children in care will also have a termly Personal Education Plan (PEP) meeting, involving the school and other professionals who support the child's family. We will make sure that the PEP and any SEND support plans or EHC plans are consistent.

What should I do if I have a complaint about my child's SEN support?

Where parents/carers have concerns about our school's SEND provision, they should first raise their concerns informally with the class teacher and/or SENDCo. We will try to resolve the complaint informally in the first instance. If this does not resolve their concerns, parents can submit their complaint formally, following the Complaints Policy, which can be found on the school website.

For a further explanation of suitable avenues for complaint, see pages 246 and 247 of the SEN Code of Practice.

If you feel that our school discriminated against your child because of their SEND, you have the right to make a discrimination claim to the first-tier SEND tribunal. To find out how to make such a claim, you should visit: https://www.gov.uk/complain-about-school/disability-discrimination

You can make a claim about alleged discrimination regarding:

- Admission
- Exclusion
- Provision of education and associated services
- Making reasonable adjustments, including the provision of auxiliary aids and services

If you are unhappy with your child's EHCP, before going to a SEND tribunal, you can go through processes called disagreement resolution or mediation, where you try to resolve your disagreement with the local authority before it reaches a tribunal. For further information, see Wolverhampton Information Network

What support is available for me and my family?

If you have questions about SEND or would like to seek further support, please get in touch with the school on 01902 925 700. We want to support you, your child and your family. Further support services are listed below.
